Foreword

We came to WACC amidst a sea of changes. The country had just gone through the trauma of a president resigning. The College had just hired a bold, young president. The sixty-year old Klump Center had received a face-lifting which made it better looking than when it was new.

We sat in the auditorium on opening day reflecting briefly on the changes, but we were really more concerned about ourselves. Where would the year take us? What was in store for us? How would we respond to what lay ahead in a rapid-changing world?

We soon found out! We met new friends from all over Pennsylvania. We worked hard, partied hard and complained. We drove, pedaled, walked and jogged to WACC. We acquired skills and experience and learned something about each other. We discovered it was a new day at WACC, but the real change was in ourselves.

Dedication

The theme for this year's Montage is "It's a New Day at WACC". What better subject for a dedication than people who are dedicated to doing their job every day. This dedication recognizes five of the people who have helped to make a new day at WACC.

This Gift

Here, take this gift,
I was reserving it for some hero,
speaker, or general,
One who should serve the good old cause,
the great idea, the progress and
freedom of the race,
Some brave confronter of despots,
some daring rebel;
But I see that what I was reserving belongs to you just as much as to any.

—walt whitman

Dr. Daryl Vanderwilt

—Research and Development—
always probing, asking 'why?', a new face devoted to building WACC. organized WACC's great pep Band. total commitment, enthusiasm, sparkling wit.

Dr. Dan Farris

—division director—highly regarded by both staff and students. an innovator, a volunteer, a mover. Deep involvement with WACC, concern for students, a good man.

Dorothy Shultz

—teacher—
quiet with a lasting impact on her students, A beautiful sense of humor, a rare blend of experience, tolerance and dedication.

Mabel Nevel

—secretary—
enjoys her job and her results show it, a concern for students, a knowledge of the school, warm regard for co-workers, a sparkle in her eye, efficient with pride in job and school.

Jim Dooley

—accountant—
burns midnight oil so paychecks get out, performs his job efficiently and thoroughly, quiet wit, always willing to help students and co-workers.

In the time-honored tradition of colleges, students are told they must pay!

Klump Renovation

The major improvement of the year was the remodeling of the Klump Center. Old lockers and desks were torn out, creating a sea of furniture on the lawn. Walls were removed and rebuilt. A new computer center was built and the equipment was hauled through a second floor window by a crane.

When the dust had settled, it was apparent that the major changes had been wrought by a crew of students who worked all summer. The crew was mostly WACC students and included both men and women.

Working under George Mosteller, the crew cleaned, hauled books and furniture, tore out old fixtures, built new rooms, and painted. When school opened the paint was still wet, but we had a building to be proud of.

Dr. Feddersen Brings A New Day To WACC

Our President

Dr. William H. Feddersen

a man who is meeting the challenge of the times and leading WACC TO IT'S NEW DAY.

Speaking at the Graphic Arts Fraternity Banquet, Dr Feddersen praised the club's attitude and its contribution to WACC.

Dr. Feddersen gives the keynote address at WACC's ninth annual Commencement.

Dr Feddersen, seated next to Board of Trustee President, Mr Carl Driscoll, reports on the progress of the school

You ain't here to serve the president, man; he's here to work for you. If you can't get some decent answers, go see him. He's the Man!

—unidentified WACC student in hall

All in a day's work! Serving spaghetti at the Winter Graduation Dinner, Dr. Feddersen gets a chance to meet all the graduates. Joining Dr. Feddersen are George Mosteller, Dr. Watters and Tom Vargo.

The students get a chance to ask the president questions at a President's Coffee House. The president proved accesible to the student body.

A Combination of Efficient Management and A Sincere Regard for the Problems of All of the Students At WACC.

Out in the field. Dr. Feddersen gets a first hand tour of the Warrior Run project. The project undertaken by WACC's heavy equipment department involved digging and grading a pond to be used for ecological studies.

A Guide To Dorm Life

-FALL Hoover Dorms SPRING

When you move into the dorms you become a member of a small community. Among the three buildings there are approximately 126 different men, of which you are one. These men, no matter how diverse in personality, intrests, and character all have two things in common- they are here to learn and to have a good time doing it.

You may look around at the facilities that the Hoover Dorms have to offer and wonder about the "good times" part. Granted, the buildings aren't the best, but at the same time you'll find that they are far from the worst. The dorms are like most things, "they are what you make them"-rather cliche but entirely true. Life here can be a bad experience or it can be the best part of being in college.

Since you are indoctrinated enough on the fine arts and responsibilities of learning, and lectured to over and over again that this is the main reason you're here, I will mention the other side of the life here.

Activities

" I was an R.A. at the dorms for two semesters and I have seen what inactivity can do to students. They become discouraged, apethetic, and even the grades drop off. The returning students will agree with this. Weekends this place cleans out like the plague hit. It need not happen."

-FALL Hoover Dorms SPRING-

This college does not have a lot of committees or organizations to actuate many activities, and on weekends the college dies. Therefore, it is up to you and the rest of this little community to get things happening.

There is football in the fall, basketball and vollyball in the winter, and baseball in the spring. Ski trips can be planned, and groups of people have even gone to Washington D.C. for a weekend. The staff (R.A.s, Men's Residence Council, etc.) can help with ideas or how to raise money for these activities and are willing to help.

It's a new semester and a new year. Get involved, excite others, become a member of the community and make it an active one. I wish you all the best of luck and don't just sit there, get up and do something about it!

Sincerely,
Ron C. Park Jr.

Listen! I will be honest with you,
I do not offer the old smooth prizes,
but offer rough new prizes,
These are the days that must happen to you:
You shall not heap up what is called riches,
You shall scatter with lavish hand all that you earn or achieve.

With music strong I come, with my cornets and my drums,
I play not marches for accepted victors only, I play marches

Have you heard it was good to gain the day?

in which they are won.

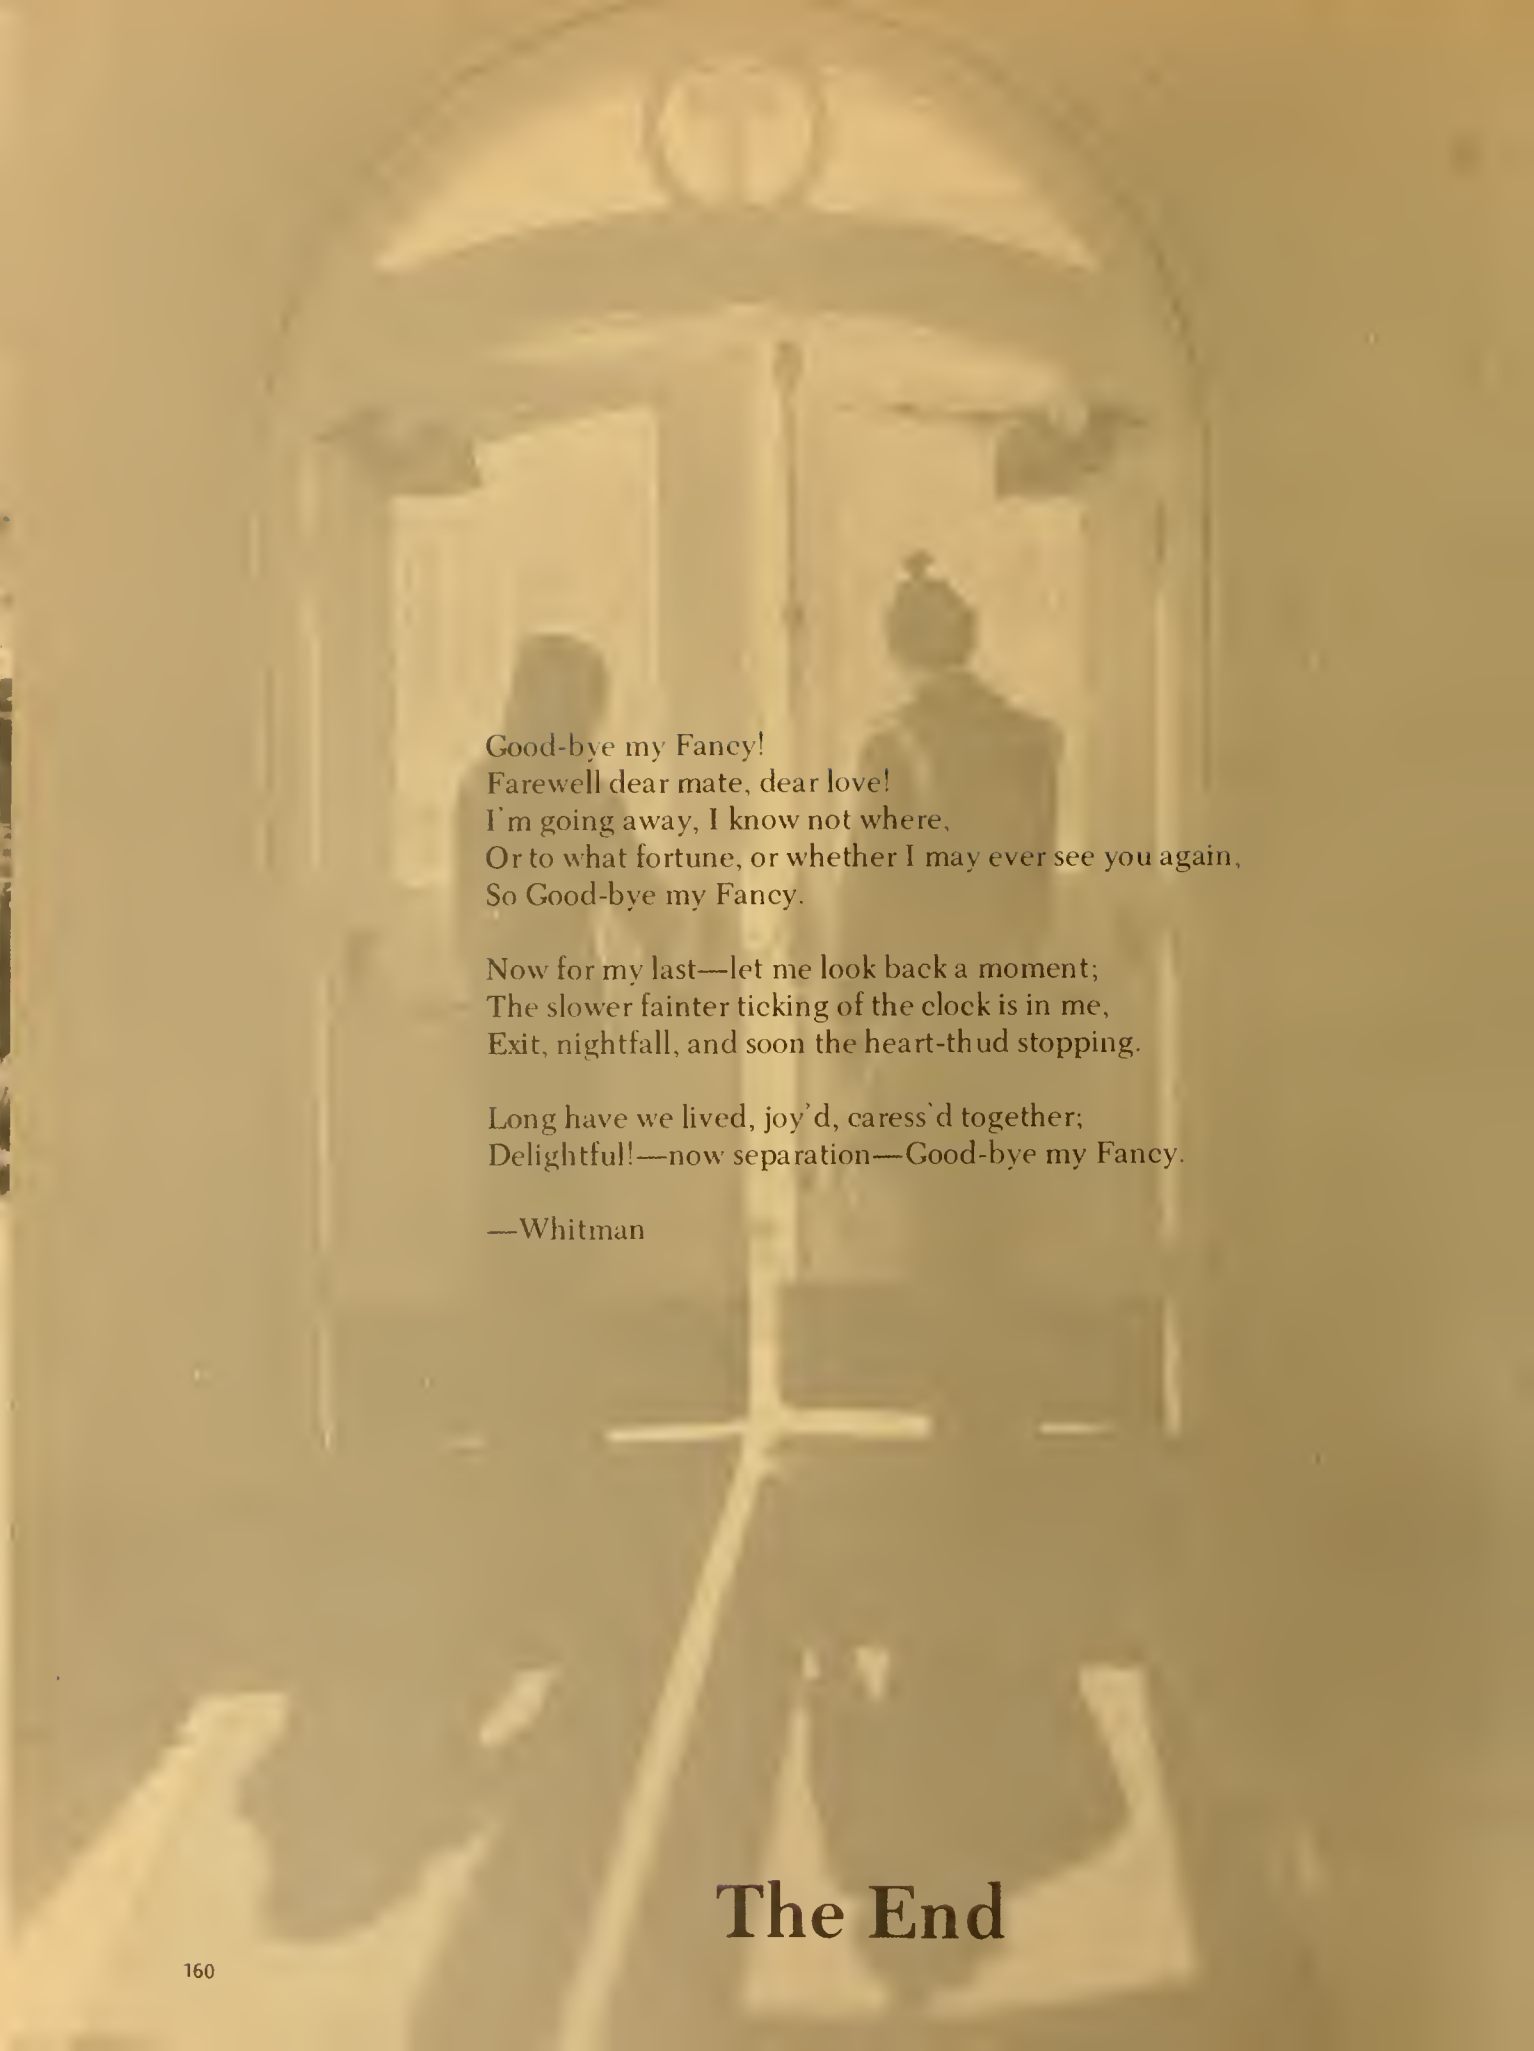
A boy's will is the wind's will
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts.

—Wordsworth



Good-bye my Fancy!
Farewell dear mate, dear love!
I'm going away, I know not where,
Or to what fortune, or whether I may ever see you again,
So Good-bye my Fancy.

Now for my last—let me look back a moment;
The slower fainter ticking of the clock is in me,
Exit, nightfall, and soon the heart-thud stopping.

Long have we lived, joy'd, caress'd together;
Delightful!—now separation—Good-bye my Fancy.

—Whitman
